 This book was designed to be a healing journey for the reader. As one reads the true stories of this everyday housewife and single mother of two sons, many opportunities of self reflection may be experienced. The reader follows the journey of a soul faced with many profound experiences and heart breaks. Joyce tells the story of how she was able to find the blessings in these events and turn them into quantum learning and teaching opportunities.

 The stories are woven together like a tapestry, taking the reader from the awareness of a young four year old child living in fear, to an inner dimensional being living in the 21st century with a new awareness. This new way of being evolved as a result of the opportunities and experiences of her life presented in this book.

 Channeled information is woven into the tapestry and used as a tool for teaching self awareness. This information as well as inspired poems are found throughout the pages of this book and are italicized.

 This is just one of many powerful insights found in these pages, "Miracles are just bursts of faith." When one lives in the consciousness of this book, every day becomes a burst of faith and a miracle just waiting to be created.
